FAQ's

What is BANTEX-TERRA™?

BANTEX[®] is the premier brand of vinyl reinforced composites for digital print applications including UV, solvent, eco-solvent, water-based, screen print and dye sublimation. BANTEX-TERRA[™] is Herculite's new line of environmentally friendly products that include both biodegradable and recyclable fabric solutions.

Where can I buy BANTEX-TERRA™ fabrics?

BANTEX-TERRA[™] fabrics are only available from authorized BANTEX-TERRA[™] distributors trained to insure you obtain superb image quality.

How well do BANTEX-TERRA™ fabrics print?

BANTEX-TERRA[™] composites are engineered to serve a broad range of print technologies. Because these products include our proprietary "enhanced micro-texture" you can count on outstanding image quality for job to job.

What is the shelf life of BANTEX-TERRA™ fabrics?

BANTEX-TERRA[™] fabrics deliver the same shelf life as our leading brand BANTEX[®]. These products are designed to deliver the performance you expect from BANTEX[®] with the added environmental benefit.

Will BANTEX-TERRA™ composites begin to degrade in field use?

BANTEX-TERRA[™] products will not degrade during commercial use but will begin the degradation process once in a commercial landfill environment. Remember some BANTEX-TERRA[™] products will degrade and others are recyclable so you can select the technical solution that best suits your unique circumstance.

How long will those that biodegrade last after use?

BANTEX-TERRA[™] composites are designed to degrade in a commercial landfill and are not designed for home or industrial composting. These products will not degrade as fast as an orange peel (6 months) or as long as your leather shoes (25 years). Depending on specific landfill conditions, 1-5 years is the expected range.

Can BANTEX-TERRA™ be recycled or reclaimed?

BANTEX-TERRA[™] fabrics can be reclaimed if they are processed with plastics of the same polymer family and can be separated into their constituent parts. Specific Terra products can also be recycled. Contact your Bantex representative for additional information.
